

‘Dirty Face’ – a play of On The Go Theatre Company.

After WW1 there is a time of great hardship and poverty for the families of Wigan. The Sheffield sisters lose their jobs at the local ammunitions factory when the men come back. A chance meeting with a local girl in the pub enables them to start work on the pit brow. Dirty Face covers their lives and what happens when their jobs are threatened by MPs in London and the girls decide to march.

On The Go are an over 55's Theatre Group who write, direct and perform their own plays, many of which have an important historical feature. Please contact Judith Whittle on 01204 847797, email whittlejudith@aol.com or Josie Byrne on 01942 831828, email josiemyrne@yahoo.co.uk if you would like more information.

‘Dirty Face’ – a play about the Pit Brow Girls of the Wigan Coalfields in the 1920s written by Josie Byrne, research and storyline by Kath Bateman, Sheila Hinds and Josie Byrne of On The Go Theatre Company.

After WW1 there is a time of great hardship and poverty for the families of Wigan. The Sheffield sisters lose their jobs at the local ammunitions factory when the men come back. A chance meeting with a local girl in the pub enables them to start work on the pit brow. Dirty Face covers their lives and what happens when their jobs are threatened by MPs in London and the girls decide to march.

On The Go are an over 55's Theatre Group who write, direct and perform their own plays, many of which have an important historical feature. Please contact Judith Whittle on 01204 847797, email whittlejudith@aol.com or Josie Byrne on 01942 831828, email josiemyrne@yahoo.co.uk if you would like more information.